At the annual meeting in Wisconsin Dells, a new version of the Level 1 training program was introduced. The new version features a more hands-on approach to determining manure application rates and setbacks (rather than looking at pages of charts and tables), and includes a new exam (Version E).

For 2008, you can choose to use either the old version or the revised version when training your staff.

Since the new version is different, the Association and Extension are offering several opportunities around the state to send either one person from your staff to get trained on the new curriculum (who will train and test everyone else) or to bring your entire staff.

Advance registrations are required. The fee varies based on whether lunch is provided. Dates/locations and contacts for reservations are as follows:
